MACCABEANS HOLD DEBATE OF INTEREST

Jewish University Question Discussed

AFFIRMATIVE WIN

Otto Klineberg Back Again With Maccabeans

There was an unusually large attendance at a meeting of the Maccabean Circle which was held yesterday afternoon in the Oak Room of the Windsor Hotel. The President, Otto Klineberg, occupied the chair for the first time this year, due to the fact that he had been confined to the hospital as a result of an unfortunate accident which befell him some time ago. Norman Vineberg, on behalf of the Circle, expressed their joy at having their president back again. The President announced that there were to be two intercollegiate Menorah Debates this year, one against Toronto at McGill and the other against some well-known American University on their own grounds.

The main event of the afternoon was a debate, the subject of which was "Resolved that it would be in the best interests of the Jewish people to establish a Jewish University on the Continent of America." Harold Freeman, on the affirmative side, said that at the present time this question is a most opportune one. The Jewish students of America are being shut out from the American Universities. He stated that there was no antagonism to the Jewish student when he attended the university in small number, but when the attendance became large anti-semitism was aroused. This antipathy to the Jew being due to racial antipathy and the tendency of the Jew to segregate himself from the other students. The only solution of this problem, he maintained, was that the Jew must get out of the University or else form one of his own. One of the chief reasons of the Jews great drive for knowledge was the fact that he wanted to overcome this racial antagonism, and that the only way in which this could be done was by attending a university and getting a college education. Only by means of university training could anti-semitism be lessened. This anti-semitism is shown the Jewish stundent not only by the faculty but the students themselves. His position in the university becomes untenable then because he is not getting the required education to meet this racial antagonism and successfully combat it, when he gets out of college.

Arnold Fineberg, on the negative side, maintained that the American colleges are not excluding all Jewish students, though they are cutting down a certain percentage of them. This means that only the cream of the Jewish students would be left, and in this way the undesirable element would be excluded. He also said that the building of a Jewish university is financially impossible for the Christian universities have state support

THEOLOGS DECIDE SOCCER TITLE

Presbyterians Defeat Wesleyans in Exciting Game

Last Thursday morning the Inter-Theological College soccer championship was decided when the Presbyterians out-kicked the Methodist outfit. Heavy kicking on both sides was the feature of the game but the Presbyterians' forward line had the edge on their opponents.

At half-time the scode stood 0-0 and the Presbyterian rooters, who had turned out "en masse," held a monster parade, calling on their team to start the scoring.

This seemed to have the desired effect. The P.C. rushed their opponents down the field and Woodhouse managed to shove one past the Wesleys' goalie. The game waxed fast and furious after this, and some pretty team play was exhibited. However, neither team could score and when the final whistle blew the relaxation from the nervous strain was so great that the Daily reporter and several others collapsed. This together with the excitement of the Queen's-'Varsity game resulted in the delay of the report of the game.

Smith of the Congregational College ably umpired the game.

PLEADED FOR RECOGNITION OF TRUE GOD

Dr. Eakin Delivered Address at University Service

GOOD ATTENDANCE

Student Orchestra and Volunteer Choir Present

"The absentee God is the only God which most of us have." "To exclude God from any department of activity is to be guilty of the one great heresy, the denial of the living God." These were two of the outstanding statements made yesterday morning at the University service by the Rev. Thomas Eakin, M.A., Ph.D., D.D., in his plea for the recognitio nof the true God—one that is found in nature, in man and in every department of universal activity. There were a large number of students present, as well as several members of the professoriate, including Miss Hurlbatt, Dean Adams, Dr. MacMillan and Professor D. A. Murray. The service, which was held under the auspices of the McGill Students' Christian Association, was conducted by Principal D. J. Fraser, of the Presbyterian College, and the lesson was read by Dean Laing, of the Faculty of Arts. A student orchestra, under the leadership of Basil Bowman, and a volunteer choir also did much to add to the success of the occasion.

By eleven o'clock between two hundred and fifty and three hundred had gathered in the ball room of the Union and after the orchestra had rendered the opening selection, Principal Fraser pronounced the call to worship. The order of service was then proceeded with, Dean Laing reading the lesson from Acts 17:22-32.

The Rev. Thomas Eakin, of the Presbyterian College, took for the text of his sermon the words, "The spirit of the Lord came upon Gidean," and he opened his address by showing that Gideon and his followers interpreted God from a personal point of view, as one who aided them and led them on

SIR ROBERT BORDEN TO SPEAK IN R.V.C

Ex-Premier Will Address Canadian Club of McGill

OPEN TO ALL STUDENTS

Second Meeting Takes Place Thursday at 5 O'clock

Sir Robert Laird Borden, K.C.M.G., LL.D., will address the McGill University Canadian Club at their second meeting, November 23, at 5 p.m., in the Convocation Hall of the R.V.C. This is a rare opportunity for McGill men and women to hear something of Canadian politics from the standpoint of the Conservative party. Every student in the University is a member of this club, and the executive hope that a large number will turn out to this, the second meeting of the club, to show Sir Robert Borden the same McGill spirit that was demonstrated to Admiral Sims. The organization of this club last year met with little success. This year under the able leadership of R. K. Jones, the club has made a very good start. At their first meeting, Mr. Philip Kerr, formerly the secretary of the Rt. Hon. David Lloyd-George, ex-Prime Minister of England, gave a very able address on the prevention of war. At the forthcoming meeting on Thursday afternoon the ex-Premier of Canada will give an informal talk on Canadian politics.

Sir Robert Laird Borden was born on June 26, 1854, in the little town of Grand Pré, Nova Scotia. He was educated at the Acadia Villa Academy, Horton. In 1872 he became a professor at Glenwood Institution, N.J., but returning to Nova Scotia he commenced his study of law and was called to the bar in 1978. He was a very successful lawyer, starting his practice in Kentville, and subsequently moving to Halifax he succeeded the late Sir J. S. D. Thompson in the firm of Thompson, Graham and Tupper. He was so successful at this that in 1890 he became a K.C. (Earl of Derby).

In 1896 he was elected to the House of Commons, and soon made himself known as a splendid orator and a great politician. In 1901 he became the leader of the Conservative opposition. From then on he showed his remarkable ability as a parliamentarian and taking advantage of the strong feeling against the Taft-Fielding Reciprocity compact in 1911, his party defeated the Liberals by a tremendous majority. He was then called upon to form a cabinet. He has held the position of Premier until recent years, when due to ill-health he resigned in favor of Hon. Arthur Meighen. His party did much to help in the Canadian participation in the Great War, and he was a very active worker for the cause.

There are two sides to every question, to every issue in Parliament as well as in life. Sir Robert Borden has always stood for the Conservative side. He has always been level-headed in his opinions and actions, and although never a great reformer, he fulfilled a place of conservatism in Canada's life as a young nation.

WATER POLO VS. M.A.A.A. TUESDAY

Intermediates and Seniors Play at "Y" at 8:15 P.M.

The decisive battle for the honors of McGill in water polo will be staged tomorrow night at the Y.M.C.A. tank. According to the ablest critics of the schedule, the Seniors are in a fair way to again defeat M.A.A.A., but the losing of this game means that they will be very hard put to win the championship. The Senior game will be a very hard tussle, for in their last game they beat M.A.A.A. by the narrow margin of 5-2, and it is known that M.A.A.A. are going to put up a stiff fight. McGill will be represented by Vernot, Laidley, Ross, Anson, Monroe and Graham-Browne.

The intermediates will also play M.A.A.A. intermediates the same night at the same place. The intermediates have had hard luck this season, but are expected to play better tomorrow night since their rest-up after the game with LaSalle. They will be represented by Vickerson, Forsyth, Jardine and others. Coach Vernot has done his best to make these teams what they are and the teams are determined to uphold the honor of McGill. It is up to the students to support them.

SCIENCE AND ARTS

There is a very widespread feeling today, even among university students, that there is something antagonistic between the arts and the sciences. Practical people, business men, engineers, and other such who are engaged in scientific industries, are inclined to scoff at the older humanistic education as a branch of antique erudition out of touch with the realities of modern life. On the other hand, the partisans of an arts education bewail the materialistic tendencies of what they consider a specialized technical training calculated to fit the student for one particular field of money-making, and subordinating to this all cultural teaching in the humanities.

There seems, at the first glance, to be a wide and almost impassable cleavage between these two points of view. They seem to assume as the purpose and object of education two very different things; and beginning at widely separated points they appear to pursue rapidly diverging paths.

This, however, is not the case. A closer view, and more profound reflection show that the object of these apparently divergent educational systems is one and the same, namely, to fulfil each its own part in the great task of finding out what is truth, and utilizing the knowledge obtained for the good of all.

All the arts are a part of science, and science is an art. "We shall be able," said Descartes, speaking as a man of science, "to find an art, by which, knowing the force and action of fire, water, air, stars, the heavens, and all other objects, as clearly as we know the trades of our artisans, we may be able to employ them in the same way for their appropriate uses, and make ourselves the masters and possessors of nature. And this will not be solely for the pleasure of enjoying with ease and by ingenious devices all the good things of the world, but principally for the preservation and improvement of human health, which is both the foundation of all other goods and the means of strengthening and quickening the spirit itself."

The reconciliation between the highest individual culture and the pursuit of science as a social end is here clearly suggested. There is, then, nothing antagonistic between an arts education and an education in applied science. They are both contributions to different phases of a single identity, and are contributions to the development of the individual and to the beneficial spread of knowledge. It is from the philosophy and abstract knowledge of theoretical science that forms the staple of an arts education that the useful applications of applied science are formulated and developed; and it is to the spiritual learning of the older humanities that one must turn if the triumphs of modern engineering and applied science are to mean more than mere material progress. There can be no comparison between the merits and demerits of an arts course and one in applied science, no argument concerning their respective merits and demerits because they are in their very nature not mutually opposed. They are, on the other hand, complementary educational systems, each of which is necessary for the fruition of a perfect whole.

THE QUEEN'S VICTORY

Queen's richly deserved Saturday's victory. From the point of view of playing ability the men from Kingston demonstrated that they were the better team, and from the determination they evinced at the outset to win, despite the apparently unfavourable trend of their fortunes at the beginning, they made plain that their opponents would not easily be returned victors. The result of the contest met with practically terians had justified themselves as players capable of playing at their unanimous acclaim about town, the attitude being taken that the Presbybest when it was commonly conceded at the start of the game that 'Varsity, by her showing of a week ago, would come out ahead. In addition it was acknowledged that the fact that Queen's had not held the coveted championship for a period of eighteen years should serve to make the victory one free from any taint of hard-feeling and one that would benefit Intercollegiate Rugby by proving that the C.I.R.F.U. was not, as was once alleged, a "two-team league", but that each of its members could be looked upon till the last as a possible contender for the honours.

"QUIPS"

The appeal inserted in this column some weeks ago for Correspondence has been answered. For the last week the "Daily" has featured—we say "featured" advisedly, as anything appearing in the Correspondence column is widely read—many letters upon "Quips." The one note prominent in all the communications is that "Quips" should be subjected to strict censorship; in this the writers are in complete accord with those whose charge is the editing of the pertinent paragraphs which have tapped this seemingly insatiable source of discussion. It is due to this, as well as to the fact that unmerited publicity was being given to certain matters not deserving of such, that it has been decided to suspend the publication of letters received with reference to "Quips" for the time being, at least.

One of our freshies after the reception fell in love with a freshette. So much so that he asked her to marry him.

She—Have you seen father yet?

He—Yes, and I love you just the same; that was all.

"I have had my misgivings," he said, in a dull, passionless voice, "but now I am sure. Your laugh shows me you are utterly heartless."

She turned pale.

"Heavens!" she cried in terror, "do I open my mouth as wide as that?"

CAPTAIN CUTTLE'S COLUMN

FALL FASHIONS.

"In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love"; but the autumn is a time of preparation. At this season the amorous swain stands long before the silvered mirror, and puts pomanders and rich potions on his hair; he consults with his tailor and takes the elevator to save ten; weird and glorious cravats he purchases, and his ankles are encased in spats. He studies catalogues of fall fashions like a text-book and gazes enraptured at pictures of spick and span young men, of whom it has been said that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

And it is well that this should be so. For Fall Fashions are of paramount importance. The very name breathes something of their significance. "Fall"—from the Latin, "falled"—to fall for something or someone. (It is in the ability to trace the derivation of words and thus to perceive their true meaning that the value of a college education lies). Thus it is seen that the fundamental purpose of fall fashions, is not, as the uneducated might suppose, to serve as a warm covering for the body during the cold winter, but to cause the members of what has been humorously called the weaker sex, to fall for the richly bedecked wearer. The cave man had no need of fall fashions. He made the dear object of his sweet affection fall for him by the more direct method of hitting her over the head with a club. There is much to be said for that way, too.

Clothes make the man, as every co-ed knows, and it is in the hope that I may be doing something, however little and insignificant, towards satisfying some young heart that I venture to give these few Fashion Hints for Men.

Crushed hats are very popular just now, and should prove a great boon to those who are beginning to feel a little tight around the pockets, as this fashion enables one to wear old and long-discarded dome-covers. The most becoming form of headgear is the most dented and crushed hat available. The best way to assure yourself that your head-dress is correct is to get a last year's discarded model, jump on it two or three times, and then place it on your head at any angle less than two but not greater than three right-angles.

Another sure means of winning a lady's heart is by appearing in bell-shaped trousers. These should be of a length such that they drag at least an inch in the dust. Sharply-defined creases are not to be encouraged and a certain shapelessness is advantageous. The smartness, neatness, and general quality of spick and span which this form of apparel gives to the wearer makes them a very desirable garment. In fact, many feel them to be a necessity.

—Captain Cuttle.

NOTE

All correspondence in this department should be addressed to Captain Cuttle, McGill Daily, and will be published every Monday morning.

You will no doubt be quite surprised and a little shocked when I tell you I am glad Auntie Kurrie was murdered. Otherwise you would not have taken over the page and I find it so much easier to confess to a man, men are so sympathetic.

I am eighteen years old and a Sophomore in residence at the R.V.C., but in spite of all this I am in deep trouble.

You see I am very much in love with a Second Year Arts man, who says he loves me. We are not engaged, but there is a thorough understanding. He took me to a show last week and coming home he kissed me. I put my hand on the back of his head (as they do in the movies), and to my horror I found he had stuck his gum behind his ear!

I was shocked to find he was so poor that he had to keep his gum from chew to chew and told him I wished never to see him again, but did not tell him why. Do you think I did the right thing? Should I have told him I found his gum? I want him back so much and am quite unpopular with the girls because he calls me up so often they cannot get in their calls. Please advice me and tell me if I should take him back.

Yours in distraction,

ANGEL FACE.

Ans.—I think that your problems are of such a pressing nature that it would be well for you to bring them personally to me. What night can I meet you? I do not park my gum behind my hear.

TORONTONIANS

Dear Cap,—We are freshmen, hailing from Toronto(not far from Kingston) and many things around McGill puzzle us, we turn to you for enlightenment.

(1) First and foremost, could you explain the meaning of the letters R.V.C.? We had the Ringling Vincent Circus down our way once. Could this be the same outfit?

(2) We were at Saturday's game, and enjoyed hearing the Presbyterians' Jazz Band very much, indeed. Could you give us the name of the tune they played?

(3) We have studied the multiplication tables, yes, and time-tables. Now, Captain Cuttle, what are these new flapper tables?

(4) What is a Beaver, an Egg, a Walrus? How do you count?

(5) Could you give us the particulars of this short course, by which we may graduate at Christmas? What is the degree granted to a circus tamer?

(6) We have been asked to take part in a concert at home during the Christmas holidays. The purpose is to raise a home for blind pigs. Could you suggest something suitable? Would a correspondence course in singing be advisable?

(7) A—I would suggest a Punch and replacing Rugby at McGill? From our hand-writing, would you say we are sordid-minded?

Submitting these questions for your approval, and thanking you in advance, we abide your decision.

Dear Unsophisticated Freshmen:—

Although you hail from Toronto Village, I will try and enlighten your puzzled minds on the many and absorbing questions you have set before me.

(1) R.V.C. stands for Real Women's College, a building existing in this city slightly superior than the Hart Hut of Toronto.

(2) Having heard this notorious band before, I believe the tune played was "Hail Toronto, Ain't We Got Fun". The second selection played was "Toronto Bring the Cow Home, Your Out for a Licking". These are the only two tunes this musical organization appears to know.

(3) Flapper tables are long wooden tables, bearing young chickens of questionable sanity and of flapping instincts.

(4) Personal questions are answered through registered mail with an enclosed stamped envelope.

(5) Enter the Faculty of Applied Science.

(6) C.T.Z.E. degree standing for Circus Tamer Zoological Extremities.

(7) A—I would suggest a Junch and Judy Show. B—Yes, if the pigs are blind.

(8) A—African Golf is replacing it. B—No, pig-headed.

Broke! Broke! Broke!
Here I stand in the chill, gray night,
As my Ermy rolls by with another,
How I rage and curse at the sight!

O, well, for the rich man's son
Who can take my girl to the ball;
O, well, for the studious lad
Who recks not of women at all.

As the limousines stream on,
Vain fury my mind doth fill,
But O, for the touch of a vanished bone,
The clink of a dime in the till!

Broke! Broke! Broke!

Someone had told a good dog story, and the inevitable better one followed.

"We had a cat at home," related the quiet-faced man in the corner seat, "which was fond of playing with the wife's ball of wool. The cat swallowed it, and some time later when kittens were born, all were wearing jumpers."

ONT. CLUB TO MEET FRESHMEN INVITED

Election of Law and Dent. Representatives

The first Ontario Club meeting for this year will be held in the Union lounge room this afternoon at five-fifteen. There are several matters of importance to come before the meeting, including the amendment of the constitution to permit of the reduction of the fees from two dollars per year to one dollar. It is thought that with the increased attendance of Ontario men at McGill this year that enough additional members can be secured to permit this step. The two dollar fee is rather high, but it was found necessary last year, owing to the comparatively small number of members.

There will be an election of the faculty representatives for Law and Dentistry. These were not elected at the final meeting last year.

The Ontario Club will in all probability hold a dance before Christmas and this is one matter that will come before the meeting. Last year the matter was brought up but at that time it conflicted with some of the dances being held around the college, and was finally dropped, as it was too late in the year. It is hoped that there will be more social activity connected with the organization this year.

A special invitation is extended to all men who are attending McGill for the first time to come out to the meeting and meet some of the men from their own province, and to become members of the club, although attending the first meeting does not mean that a man must join right up at this time.

through their trials and difficulties. The speaker then pointed out that this idea of God had become smothered under many theological doctrines and dogmas and that for many years it had practically disappeared. He emphasized the fact that the need of the world is today a real God, a God that is with us always.

"During the past one hundred years," Dr. Eakin stated, "there has been a steady approximation towards the saying of St. Paul, 'For in Him we live and move and have our being.' This conception has been promoted by ideal philosophers, by men in England like Wordsworth, Coleridge, and Carlyle." The preacher enlarged on the importance of this, showing that these men had seen God in nature and in the world around them, stating that "this rediscovery of God is the greatest revelation during the past one hundred years in the realm of theology."

The speaker showed that the greatest importance is to be accorded to this doctrine, for it places God in nature, in man and in every conceivable part of the universe. In connection with this Dr. Eakin said "that conscience is the voice of the unextinguished divinity within us" and that "religion comes as a normal thing!"

The speaker denied the interpretation of God as an exterior being, who controls this and other worlds, saying, "Too much is the Divine Being conceived as the artificer of the universe. The absentee God is the only God which most of us have."

Dr. Eakin then went on to show that if God is accepted at all, He must be accepted in every realm of life, in politics and in business and that He must be a God for every day in the week and not for Sunday alone. "To exclude God from any department of activity," he claimed, "is to be guilty of the one great heresy, the denial of the living God. If we believe that God is everywhere life will become a richer thing."

"Every created thing glorifies in its creator by being the most perfect expression of its nature," the speaker went on to say, "and we are placed here to take our part in the universal order, which is the gradual unfolding of a divine plan." Dr. Eakin quoted the famous English author, Bernard Shaw, who once said that God has no hands, no eyes and no feet, but went on to point out that "we are His eyes, His hands and His feet. Let us do our work knowing that it is part of the divine plan."

Dr. Eakin brought his address to a conclusion with a forceful appeal for the acceptance of this interpretation of a Supreme Being and confuted the idea of personal salvation when, he said, "You and I are to do a bigger thing than to save our souls. Humanity awaits our efforts. If the Kingdom of God is to come, we are today its foundations and the master architects of its success."

After the final hymn had been sung, Principal Fraser pronounced the closing benediction and the service was brought to a successful termination.

Yesterday's University service was the first to be held this year but the members of the religious committee of the Students' Christian Association are planning to hold several similar events during the session, the full particulars of which will be announced well in advance of the scheduled time.

CORRESPONDENCE

The Daily is not responsible for the sentiments of letters published in the correspondence columns. Signed communications from graduates, undergraduates and members of the faculties will be placed in print if they are not of too great length.

Correspondents are requested to observe the unwritten law of the newspaper office—that they write upon ONE SIDE of the paper ONLY.

McGill University,

Editor McGill Daily.

Sir,—The discussion in this counn regarding "Quips" may be said to have been rather beneficial in every way. The undergraduates undoubtedly are in favor of "Quips" if proper supervision is guaranteed. The language used in the letter opening this discussion has been modified or rather not repeated. There is no doubt that every student in the University desires proper censorship of "Quips." At the same time very few can support the statements that "Quips" has been "an example of inanity, especially bad taste and downright scurrilousness.", The first letter on the subject contained such language that it could be treated only with ridicule. The first paragraph in Mr. Wilkinson's letter on Saturday is good. If the last paragraph of the same letter expresses approval of Mr. Robertson's original letter, the two paragraphs are widely divergent. Mr. Robertson's stand in his second letter is quite reasonable, as the entire discussion has been except for the unusually strong, and we believe, unnecessarily violent language of that first letter.

Very sincerely,
ROBERT F. OGILVY.

Editor McGill Daily.

Dear Sir,—In several issues now of the Daily we have read letters re 'Quips". There can be no doubt but Quips are interesting, and has a rightful place in the columns of the Daily, solely because of its humour. Abstract its feature of fun, however, and it ceases to be what it was intended; and moreover, could develop undoubtedly into something vituperative and "yellow". Let its censorship, therefore, be strict and wholesome. Three cheers for "Quips" ! ! !

I would like, however, personally to resent the tone and the subject matter of yesterday's letter in your Correspondence column, signed by three gentlemen, on the ground that the main issue, viz., "Quips", is lost in an endeavor to make the question a personal one. Who wants a student discussed in the Daily, good or bad? What grounds has this trio to question any student's sincerity insofar as "having to stretch their imagination" to do so? Is not this, sir, "a slur upon a fellow student's "character"? These aforementioned gentlemen might be reminded that whilst imagination is very necessary in poetics it is sometimes and especally so here dangerous in dialectics or arguing a case.

I wish, Mr. Editor, to put myself on record as being heartily in favor with Mr. Robertson's attitude re "Quips", and to thank him for his fearless stand.

Thanking you for space,

I am, yours sincerely,
GEORGE WILKINSON,
Arts '24.

Editor's Note.—This letter has been re-printed due to an omission of a part of it by the printer on its first appearance.

Editor McGill Daily.

Dear Sir,—Two more letters have appeared in the Daily in reply to our correspondence upholding the general character of the students and the continuation of Quips.

Mr. Clark asks our feeling as to the desirability of questionable comments appearing in the Daily; we do not feel, nor have we ever stated that these comments should appear and we are certainly not fighting for the insertion of such. Mr. Clark's letter depends entirely for its prestige on misquotations of our statements and in quoting some which we have never written.

We agree with Mr. Wilkinson in that Quips should be strictly censored, otherwise his letter raises no issue. Thanking you for your valuable space,

We remain, yours truly,

"What was that collector arguing about?" asked Mrs Slopay. "Didn't you tell him that I wasn't at home?"

"Yessum. I told him,' replied the maid, "but he wouldn't believe me. Why he acted like he wouldn't have believed it if you had told him yourself with your own mouth."—The Minnesota Daily.

QUEENS WIN CHAMPIONSHIP OF INTERCOLLEGIATE UNION

Brilliant Play of Kingston Half-Backs the Deciding Factor —Laidley and Batstone Star for Queen's—McKelvey's Line Plunging a Feature—After Eighteen Years Tri-Colour Again Takes Honours.

Springing perhaps the biggest surprise in the last few years, the Queen's University football team decisively overpowered the Varsity twelve on Molson Stadium Saturday, and gained possession of the trophy emblematic of the Canadian intercollegiate championship. The fact that the Presbyterians have been unable to accomplish this feat since 1904 makes the victory doubly sweet.

Before the game not even the staunchest Queen's adherent would venture to predict a tri-color victory. Varsity was favored to win by a good margin, and odds were as high as 3 to 1 in favor of last year's champions. But the Queen's team certainly deserved the victory, and on Saturday's play showed a vast superiority over their rivals.

Their line outplayed the Toronto forwards and the outside wings, "Bud" Thomas and Walker, had quite the edge over Rolph and Prendergast. They were faster down the field and their tackling was surer. But the biggest surprise of the game was the inability of the Varsity backfield to break loose. Snyder was closely watched and got away on very few large gains. Duncan, usually a terrific line plunger, was not very effective. Harry Hobbs also seemed to have an off-day. The passing of the Toronto halves was poor, several fumbles resulting and Queen's obtaining once on a forward pass by Hobbs. And in the punting department, Leadley had a big advantage over Snyder in first half. But Somerville took up the work in the second half and held his own against the Queen's star.

For the victors, Leadley and McKelvey were the outstanding performers. Batstone pulled off the longest and most sensational run of the game, a 50-yard sprint, and gave a good alround performance. Leadley was a terror in the open field and McKelvey, as a line plunger, was brilliant.

Queen's made 14 first downs to 11 for Varsity, but the tri-color on several occasions with one yard to go on last down choose to kick, while Varsity usually plunged and while they made yards several times in this manner, lost the ball once at a critical stage in the game. The Kingstonians in all made 365 yards from scrimmage, while the losers totalled only 217.

Great credit must be given to Bill Hughes, who handled the Queen's team before the game. He certainly worked wonders with the line and their variety of plays completely bewildered the Toronto team.

A detailed account of the play follows:

FIRST QAURTER.

Varsity won the toss and chose to defend the west end of the field. Snyder's kick-off was caught by Evans, who advanced 5 yards to the Queen's 35-yard line. Leadley punted on the first down and the Blue and White got away to a bad start, when Hobbs fumbled and Queen's recovered on the 45-yard line. McKelvey went through the right side of the line for 8 yards, and on the next play Leadley swept around left end for 40 yards, but the play was recalled by Isbester and Queen's penalized 15 yards for running interference. Leadley punted to Hobbs, who was downed on his 30-yard line. On the next play Hobbs circled left end for a 15-yard gain, but spoiled the effect by making a wild forward pass, which "Bud" Thomas almost scooped up, and Queen's was given the ball on the Varsity 45-yard line. Mundell plunged through for 5 yards. Batstone and Leadley combined for 8 more and a first down. McKelvey hit right middle for yards and on a split trick Batstone added 10 more and another first down. Leadley and Evans made 2 yards each and Leadley standing on the 20-yard line tried a drop kick, but the pass out was bad and Leadley kicked for a point. Queen's 1, Varsity 0.

Varsity put the ball in play on its 25-yard line. Duncan hit right middle for 10 yards and first down. Snyder failed to gain and punted on the next down. The boot was weak, travelling only 10 yards before going into touch on the Varsity 45-yard line. McKelvey ploughed through for 10 yards. Batstone hit the right side for 6 yards and on a split trick Harding carried the ball 20 yards. Batstone and McKelvey made 4 yards on two plunges and Leadley sent over a neat drop kick from the 23-yard line. Queen 4, Varsity 0.

Snyder's kick-off was returned into touch at midfield by Evans. Two plunges netted Varsity 7 yards and when Snyder dropped back to kick McKelvey broke through and blocked the punt, the ball sailing out of bounds at midfield, where Queen's put it in play. Queen's failed to gain in two downs and Leadley punted but a tri-color player was offside and Toronto given the ball at midfield. Duncan took a pass from Hobbs and made 15 yards before being brought down by Thomas. Hobbs recovered a bad pass from centre for a loss of 7 yards. Snyder made up 3 and punted to Batstone, who was downed on his 15-yard line, after advancing 5. Two attempts yielded 5 yards and Batstone punted but Queen's was offside and Varsity got the ball on their opponents' 25-yard line. Snyder plunged through for 5 and when McPerson failed to gain Snyder punted over the line to Batstone, who fumbled and Westman recovered for a touchdown. Duncan converted. Varsity 6, Queen's 4.

The Queen's kick-off was returned to Leadley, who was downed by Miles on the Queen's 40-yard line. Rolph threw Leadley for a 3-yard loss, but the Queen's half attoned by skirting left end for 18 yards. McKelvey and Mundell gained 5 yards, and the game was delayed by the Queen's bear mascot breaking loose onto the field. Leadley punted to Snyder on the Varsity 25-yard line. Taylor went through centre for 7 yards and Miles ploughed through for a first down. Duncan and Taylor gained 5 yards. Snyder punted to Batstone, who passed to Leadley for 10 yards gain to the Queen's 50-yard line.

Leadley's kick was short but took a lucky bounce and rolled to the goal line, where Hobbs recovered cleverly. The Queen's line broke through and blocked Snyder's punt, recovering on the Varsity one-yard line. Here the Blue and White made the prettiest stand of the day, and Queen's was thrown back 2 yards on two smashes. On the third down Evans tried an onside kick. It looked like a sure touchdown but McPherson made a thrilling leap into the air and snatched the oval out of the hands of a Queen's man, who tackled him for a rouge just as the period ended. Varsity 6, Queen's 5.

SECOND QUARTER.

Starting on the 25-yard line, Duncan took a pass from Snyder and gained 15 yards around left end. Two smashes gained 7 yards and Snyder punted to Batstone on the Queen's 30-yard line. McKelvey made 2 yards and Evans went through for 8 more and first down. Muirhead and McKelvey each gained 3 yards and Leadley punted to Snyder, who was downed by Walker without being given yards.

Varsity was given the ball at midfield. Duncan made 4 yards and Snyder failed to gain and punted to Batstone, who was downed by Rolph on the Queen's 25-yard line. Two attempts at the line gained nothing and Leadley punted to Snyder, who was downed by Walker at centrefield. Two Varsity plunges failed and Snyder punted to the Queen's 35-yard line. Queen's was penalized 15 yards for offside and a poor punt went out of bounds on the Queen's 45-yard line. Snyder made three yards and punted to Batstone, who made 8 yards and Leadley kicked to touch in goal for a point. Queen 8, Varsity 6.

Snyder went through for 6 yards. Duncan added 2 and Hobbs risked losing the ball by signalling for a line plunge and Duncan was equal to the occasion. Somervill plunged centre for 5 yards and punted to Batstone, who returned the oval into Snyder's hands. Duncan combined with Snyder for a 5-yard gain and Somerville booted to Leadley, who was pinned to the ground by Rolph. Harding went through for 5 yards. Batstone made 3 at right end and Leadley punted to Hobbs on the Varsity 45-yard line. Duncan made 13 yards around left end on a pass from Hobbs. Somerville made 5 yards. Duncan added 3, and Somerville kicked to Batstone on the Queen's 20-yard line. Rolph threw Batstone for a 2-yard loss. Leadley punted to Snyder, who returned to the kicker for a 10-yard gain on the exchange. Evans made 5 yards through centre as the period ended. Queen's 8, Varsity 6 .

FOURTH QUARTER.

Leadley punted to Hobbs, who passed to Snyder for a 15-yard gain. Snyder plunged for 3 yards and Somerville made 4 on a fake through centre. McKelvey blocked Somerville's kick and Queen's obtained on the Varsity 50-yard line. Harding skirted right end for 18 yards. Leadley gained 5 and punted over the line to Snyder, who made an heroic effort to take it out by diving in the air over two Queen's men, but he was hurled back over the line for a safety. Queen's 10, Varsity 6.

Snyder went through centre for 10 yards. Duncan and Somerville again made yards, Somerville plunged for 5 yards. Duncan added 3 and Hobbs took another chance, Snyder making the 2 yards for three first downs in succession. Varsity was literally tearing up the Queen's line at this point. Two plunges failed to gain and Somerville punted to the Queen's 30-yard line. Batstone found right end for 2 yards. Leadley gained 2 around the other end and with one yard to go Leadley punted to Somerville, who ran 5 yards to his 45-yard line. Somerville and Snyder gained 7 yards in two attempts and Somerville's kick went out of bounds on the Queen's 30-yard line. McKelvey broke through centre for a sensational 40-yard advance, being brought to the ground by Snyder's pretty tackle. Leadley added 10 more yards around right end. When Batstone and Leadley failed to gain the latter kicked for a rouge. Queen's 11 ,Varsity 6.

Somerville plunged for 5 yards. A long lateral pass failed to gain and Somerville booted to Batstone, who fumbled but recovered. Patterson replaces Somerville for Toronto. McKelvey gained 6 yards and Leadley punted to Patterson. The Varsity backs fumbled a bad pass and Queen's recovered. McKelvey made 5 yards and Leadley kicked to the dead line. Queen's 12, Varsity 6.

Duncan made a first down and a Varsity onside kick went out of bounds on Queen's 40-yard line. Leadley's kick went into touch on Varsity 35-yard line. A long lateral pass lost 5 yards for Varsity and Queen's recovered an onside as the game ended. Queen's 12, Varsity 6.

which a Jewish university could not hope for.

Peter Usher, the second speaker on the affirmative side, gave a brief enumeration of the various advantages of a Jewish university, the chiefs ones being the contribution of Jewish intellect and ideals to American life. He cited the example of France. There was a Jewish university (13th Century) in France, to which the scholars flocked and as a result it became the centre of the Jewish renaissance. The Jews, he said, could build a university of their own, for had not Schiff given enormous sums of money to American colleges? It was largely due to Bemand Baruck, another Jew, that the Williamstown Institute of Politics was built. Surely then, he added, these men could give part of their wealth towards the building of a Jewish university. The curriculum of this university would be a universal, liberal and free one. The college to be run on non-sectarian lines, there being no attempt made to Judaize the students. The Faculty need not be necessarily Jewish, but who would not sit at the feet of such famed Jewish scholars as Taussig, Steinmetz, Deutsch, and Brandeis. With these, as a nucleus, the Jews can create a teaching staff, the envy of the whole world. He said that the Jews were learing the American sport with amazing rapidity, and as an example of this he cited the case of the College of New York, whose football team is almost entirely Jewish.

Bernand Cohen, the other speaker on the negative side, said that the Jews of America had been and are still called upon to give enormous sums of money to charity and especially to the stricken Jews in Eastern Europe. He did not think that it would be advisable, then, at the present time to go to such enormous expense as that of building a university. He stated that a Jewish university is now being built in Palestine, which would become the centre of Jewish learning.

Mr. Bernfeld, the judge of the debate, announced that the affirmative side, Messrs. Freeman and Usher, had won the debate. Mr. Bernfeld made a few criticisms about the debaters in the manner in which they debated and especially picked out Usher for praise. He said that Usher had risen to great heights of oratory and idealism in the presentation of his material, and Usher, being a Law student, predicted a great success for him in the future.

McGILL MANDOLIN CLUB

Another practice will be held at Peate's Studio at 7:30 Tuesday night. It is necessary that all members turn out for these practices as only a few more can be held before the club is to appear at one of the local theatres. A new march will be practiced and a few more copies of the music given out last week can be obtained. Being the first group of the college to have its picture taken, we are the first to receive the finished pictures from Notman's and these can be obtained on Tuesday night, by the members who ordered them.
